

Seniors

Seated, Left to Right: Erica Frank, Norman Silva; First Row Standing: Aown Al-bahrani, Joe Walker, Chris Haxby, Bill Blackburn, Jennifer Senior, Sean O'Brien, Catherine Cooper, Jory Wall; Second Row: Mary Dishman, Sara Ruby, Katherine Bilby, Collin Smith, Julia Nalditch, Esther Brazin, Casey Noland; Third Row: Adam Strauss, Kathryn Spotts, Maggie Conner, Drew Sellers, Miles Harvey, Kenneth Koester; Back Row: Betsey Garrison, Jessica Mershon, Jessica VanDyke, Kammaleathahh Livingstone, Danny Madryga, Laila Alizadeh, Brandy Lunsford

Collin Smith - Stirring coffee, still sad that he missed the Civil War trip.
 Kathryn Spotts - a real-life Charlie's Angel, still trying to avoid Joe Walker.
 Adam Strauss - Not visible due to hair overgrowth, got lost on his way to college (we haven't found him yet), sleeping on the set of his new cooking show.
 Marcello Ubertone - Kissing American girls, the new voice of Homer Simpson.
 Jessica VanDyke - Photographer for High Times magazine, dressed entirely in leopard skin.
 Joe Walker - Ironically, Joe's trend of uniform gray T-shirts and blue jeans sparked a revival of communism in America, hanging out with long lost uncle Burt Reynolds.
 Jory Wall - Crazy circus clown.

Being

PARTICIPATORY sense of ownership interactive expressive

ACADEMICALLY CHALLENGING engaged, active learning college expectations experiential city campus

EGALITARIAN acceptance affirmation opportunity

COOPERATIVE small group work dialogue/discussion group decision-making

Being a member of the St. Francis High School community means acceptance of these nine "Essential Qualities" of the school. These core values place expectations on everyone - students, teachers, administrators, and parents. The special qualities of St. Francis do not happen by accident, but by each of us being willing to be stretched, sometimes in ways uncomfortable to us. Yet, unless we let ourselves be stretched, even insist upon being stretched, we do not grow. Wanting challenge and desiring change comes naturally to adolescents. While this trait can be irritating to adults, it also calls us to be stretched. Sometimes students come to me to complain that they are not being engaged or challenged in one of their classes. This pleases me, for the students are doing exactly what the school wants them to do - take responsibility for themselves, their learning, and for the school community.

Tom Pike, Head of School

DIVERSE race, ethnicity socio-economic level values, religion, talent

Above: Parker Gregory and Eric Gee leave for lunch; Left: Allison McDaniel and Katie Byrum decorate the third-floor hallway; Below Left: Tom Pike starts Morning Meeting with a "Quiet, Please"; Below: Tom Miron wishes Laila Alizadeh luck before the Wyvern Invitational Cross Country race.

St. Francis

RISK TAKING responsibility trust accountability self-reliance

PERSONALIZED small classes small school

INNOVATIVE policies, curriculum activities, facilities

SPIRITUAL/ETHICAL
mutual respect, integrity, civility openness to the Sacred

Above Left: St. Francis smiles for the camera; Above: Sgt. Peppers: service with a smile; Left: Maggie Conner, Alex Kubibek, Max Boone, Turner Wathen, Adam Strauss, and Bill Blackburn lunch at Theatre Square; Below Left: Joe Walker, Collin Smith, and Drew Sellers: Sweet Home Alabama; Below: Brandy Lunsford and Mia Partlow demonstrate the "learning" value.

Being

In 2010, we might be...

Aown Al-Bahrani - President of the United States, drowning in Silver chains.

Laila Alizadeh - Married to Beck, stealing people's supplies at work and pretending she thought they were hers.

Summer Auerbach - Starts a clinic for the socially inept after she is fired as mayor of Cincinnati because she can't stop calling it the 'nati and the truth comes out that she's never been there.

Katherine Bilby - Sailor Moon, trying to convince a new circle of friends that she's Asian.

Bill Blackburn - Co-owns Henry's Arc with Adam, wrestling alligators in Florida.

Esther Brazin - Supermodel soccer mom.

Molly Bush - Starring in a children's show of PBS as a fairy named Eve, Salad-Shredder infomercial queen, trying to find the most obscure bottled water.

Maggie Conner - Poolside, talking about herself very slowly in a roundabout way using the hippest slang.

Catherine Cooper - Married to a Tae-Bo instructor, responsible for the first successful mating between a horse and a human.

Mary Dishman - Owns an entire fleet of Jeeps named after each member of the 2010 UK basketball team.

Erica Frank - Spokeswoman for Nyquill, late, on time to her high school reunion.

Betsey Garrison - Creator of Ghetto-Disney, selling rocking chairs with her grandma.

Miles Harvey - Creates his own line of tight clothing for men.

Chris Haxby - Involved in an extensive research project in Antarctica, replacement voice for Tinkey-Winkey on the Teletubbys.

Kenneth Koester - Building a Lego Esther.

Kammaleathahh Livingstone - Still explaining her name to strangers, finally completely losing her voice in a feminist rally.

Brandy Lunsford - Owner of designer clothing store selling only pink clothing, acting in hockey stick violence movies.

Danny Madryga - Speaker of the House, king of the New York social scene.

Jessica Mershon - Trying to show Adam the true path to enlightenment, taken hostage by Tibetan monks.

Julia Naditch - President Putin's advisor on the effects of Gothic clothing on the Russian people, in an insane asylum, owns a fishnet stocking factory.

Casey Noland - In the process of pursuing his dream of starting an all-Noland boy band, famous soccer star married to a Brazilian supermodel.

Sean O'Brien - The next Harry Carey, trying to find a way to pick up radio signals with a beard.

Dixie O'Donnell - Smiling, ruling Norway after renaming it Dixie-way.

Lettie Renekamp - Unable to get her taxes in on time because she tried to fill out all the forms by writing in negative space, making tape covers in a small apartment in Japan.

Sara Ruby - Just a cowgirl hat, a guitar, and a large Jewish community.

Drew Sellers - Reforming his hair in a wind tunnel, modeling a cover to cover issue of GQ in three-piece suits.

Jennifer Senior - Still trying to find Taco Bell with JVD, dermatologist with a smoothie bar in her office.

John Shumate - After a revelation, changes his name to Ben Gay.

Norman Silva - Working as a Shogun chef, as it is the perfect middle ground between fishing and burning, chasing small children with rubber poop, self-induced coma.

Left: Cia White brandishes a machete during Community Service

Bob Foshee,
English

Rob Shilts,
English, Drama, and History

Ron Mikulas, English

Killian Barefoot, History

Stu Capinko, History and Dean of Faculty

Chris Yeager, History, Community Service Coordinator

Deb Bottoni, French

Angela Nazarenko, Spanish

Gwyneth Rost, French and Registrar

Not Pictured

Julie Crutcher, Drama
Maggie de la Torre, Spanish
William Halbrooks, French
Paul Hall, Mathematics
Christina Jeanes, Spanish
John Wheaton, Physics
Bryan Walde, Mathematics and Computer Coordinator
Cia White, English

Michael Brasler, Physics and Mathematics

Bob Brown, Biology

Stanley Phuapegar, Chemistry and Mathematics

John Rost, Mathematics

Above Right: John Rost shows Clinton Hendler how to finish a Precalculus problem; Below Right: Ron Mikulak and Miles Harvey proofread an essay.

Tom Pike,
Head of School

Tom Miron, Dean of Students and History

Jerry Jo Ballard, Counselor

Kit Llewellyn, College Counselor

Whitney Hankins, Athletic Director

Mary Peppers, Security

Steve Schmitt, Maintenance

Lucy Marrot, Receptionist

Amanda Hopper,
Director of Admissions

Barbra Dicken, Director of Development

Rhonda Kavich,
Business Manager

Andrea Mancini, Development